

The Daily Courant.

Monday, February 8. 1703.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Feb. 10.

Warsaw, January 12.

THE Saxons that possess'd themselves by force of Polesia, the Capital of Great Poland, cause great Complaints, obliging the Inhabitants to furnish them with more than their necessary Provisions. This behaviour of the Saxons excites the Hatred of the Poles against them more and more; who are better satisfied with the Swedes, that observe exact Discipline, and raise some Contributions, and what is necessary for their Subsistence only. Whereupon some Polish Gentlemen, to revenge themselves, fall upon the Saxon Parties when they catch them at a Disadvantage, and others go to the King of Sweden to put themselves under his Protection. The principal Men of the House of Potoski are very much dissatisfied with the King of Poland. An Accommodation between them and his Polish Majesty is talk'd of, but there seems to be no Disposition to it at present. The Senators begin to come to this City, to be present in the Assembly call'd by the Cardinal Primate. The Swedish Army continues to advance towards this City, and their foremost Troops will certainly be here in a few days; A House is actually furnish'd for the King of Sweden. It was reported, That the Great General of the Crown was dead; but that is contradicted by a Letter under his own hand, in which he complains that Count Sinzendorf is the occasion of the Damage done by the Swedes on his Lands. Some Troops of the Army of Lithuania, are arriv'd in the Polish Russia, and have ravag'd the Lands of Prince Sobieski. Prince Wiefnowiski caus'd them to advance that way, under pretence of covering his own Estate from the Incurfions of the Revolted Cossacks: But 'tis suspected his real Design is to weaken the Party of Oginski in Lithuania. It was propos'd to remove the Convention of the Palatinate of Russia which is appointed to be held at Wisni between Premissi and Lemberg, to Lemberg, but this was so strenuously oppos'd that it was let fall. The Troops of the Under General of the Crown, and a Party of Cossacks have had a Rencounter, in which 200 of the latter were kill'd, and several taken Prisoners.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Feb. 13.

Warsaw, Jan. 27. The Heer Oginski, who has joyn'd himself to 24000 Muscovite Cossacks, is Posted between Lublin and Landisz; and has lately Plunder'd a Magazine of the Swedes. 'Tis said the King of Sweden is moving in Person towards Tiktorschin, to attack the Saxons. 'Tis reported that the Pope's Nuncio has signified to the Cardinal Primate, that in case his Eminency call a Synod, he has Orders immediately to dissolve it in the Pope's Name, or if they should sit and take any Resolutions, he will by the same Authority declare them null and of no Force.

Thorn, Jan. 29. The Polish General Taub, is made Governor of this City; in which 1500 Men are Garrison'd, besides a Regiment that is Quarter'd in the Suburbs. The Swedes being come within 7 Miles of this City, and the Saxons retiring as the Enemy advances, the King will set out to Day for Elbing. General Fleming is gone to Berlin.

Letters from our Army in Italy say, that 300 of the Enemies Grenadiers having attack'd a small Post, in which was only 1 Sergeant, 1 Corporal, and 8 Soldiers, our Men made so brave a Resistance, that they gave time to a Party of Horse, who advanc'd at the Noise of the Firing, to charge and defeat the Enemy. The King has made the Sergeant a Captain, and given him a Pension for Life of 300 Livres, the Corporal a Sergeant with a Pension of 100 Livres, and order'd 10 Louis d'Or to be distributed to each Soldier.
